

Tired of Fido's Input During Conference Calls?

5 Tips for Staying Sane and Productive While Working from Home with Your Dog

- 1) Set an alert on your phone to remind you to take him/her outside for potty breaks.
- 2) Give your dog a small treat or piece of kibble when they are being quiet to reinforce that behavior.
- 3) Reduce barking by taping newspaper to or frosting the bottom halves of the windows they typically look out of so they can't see people, dogs, or other animals walking by.
- 4) Prepare Kong chew toys with yogurt, peanut butter, and other treats your dog loves so they can work on that during important video conference meetings. (Freeze them to make them last longer!)
- 5) Keep your dog on his/her leash so you can gently guide them to another room if you need to.

We help organizations achieve greater engagement from their community by implementing safe pet-friendly policies that improve communication and collaboration.

Would your company benefit from a work-from-home success plan for your dog-owning team members? Email us today at info@thecorporatedogtrainer.com to request more info.

Learn More About Dog-Friendly
Solutions for Your Corporation